

GP Teaching Fellow

6-8 sessions

Role Descriptor

Introduction to the post

Due to the success of these posts, we are now recruiting up to two additional GP Teaching Fellows to our friendly and supportive practice. These innovative and dynamic posts will blend undergraduate teaching and General Practice. A normal six session work week will consist of two sessions of dedicated medical student teaching consisting of seminars and blended clinical learning for KCL Medical Students; and four standard sessions of patient contact. There will be opportunities for academic scholarship and research if desired. We offer a nurturing environment for both experienced GPs or those just finishing training, therefore this post would be suitable for an established educator or ideal for those completing training with a passion for education.

About the practice

We serve approximately 15,000 socially and culturally diverse patients and work from a large modern Primary Care Health Centre. We are a multidisciplinary team consisting of doctors, physician associates, GP trainees, pharmacists, nurses, paramedics and our clinical support team. We are active in supporting our doctors' personal interests and their professional development so that their careers can evolve.

We are an innovative and educationally focused practice and have a VTS Programme Director in the practice Leadership Team. Our doctors have diverse interests in various specialities including head and neck surgery, minor surgery, dermatology and with the PCN Clinical Director also in the practice Leadership Team, we are active in leadership roles across the healthcare landscape. The practice has won several national awards for innovation and impact on patient outcomes.

Key benefits

We have a comprehensive package of staff benefits which include:

- Incremental Salary Scale recognising experience and length of service ranging from £10,500 to £11,500 per session
- Indemnity insurance provided by the practice
- BMA Model contract with six weeks of annual leave
- One week of study leave per year (pro-rata) with a £200 study budget

- Promotion of a healthy work-life balance with healthy working hours
- Opportunities to take part in teaching through our in-house educational program and access to educational grants for your own development. Mentorship from senior educationalists
- Regular formal and informal clinical meetings
- Admin and home visit light practice
- Great support in your role from our able administrative team

The appointment process

We are keen to ensure you have information about the practice and a chance to get to know us. We treat the interview as a mutual process and encourage you to interview us to ensure you are excited to come and work with the practice team.

For more information or to arrange an informal visit, please contact our Practice Manager, Mrs Sarah McLaughlin by email sarah.mclaughlin1@nhs.net.
